WE NOMINATE

Harriet Adams Stephens, one of the Princeton Community's most dedicated citizens, who over the past decade has literally given 1000's of hours to the far-reaching program sustained by the Princeton Small Animal Rescue League. It was ten years ago this month that a group of five Princeton women, led by Mrs. Stephens and the League's beloved co-founder, the late Miss Emily Myrick, launched the organization's first membership drive. Today, on the threshold of the nationally proclaimed "Be Kind to Animals Week", the League's membership numbers more than 250 Princetonians.

In the post-World War II years, as the nature of the Princeton area was changing from semi-rural to semi-urban, Mrs. Stephens and Miss Myrick were perturbed by the plight of the many lost, abandoned and injured animals found in the Borough and Township. Determining that unorganized volunteers could not cope with a growing problem, they advocated the establishment of an animal shelter, a facility previously sought by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Their proposal won the support of the late Perry MacKay Sturges, then Mayor of the Borough, and Dr. Russell S. Edmonds, who offered the services of his Lawrence Hospital for Animals at reduced rates.

The leadership provided by Mrs. Stephens and Miss Myrick, aided by the other founding officers of the League, Mrs. Sturges, Mrs. Hamilton Cottier and Mrs. Albridge C. Smith 3d, moved mounds of apathy. The SPCA disbanded, turning its remaining funds over to the new League, and Mrs. Stephens, appearing before Mayor and Council, argued her case so effectively that Borough agreed to make a limited annual appropriation towards the cost of caring for stray animals found within municipal limits. Four years later (1955) Princeton Township followed the Borough's example in extending support to the quasi-official services offered by the League.

The League, which each year cares for some 300 stray and injured animals, is understandably proud of its adoption program that makes every effort to place unclaimed pets in good homes. Once an animal has been held in the shelter for seven days (the legal limit), Mrs. Stephens and her associates, notably Mrs. Ailery C. Graves, Executive Secretary, who has brought about as many as six "pet-owner reunions" in a single day, swing into action. Their record for March, 1961, is indicative: of a total of 20 animals brought to the Lawrence Hospital seven were returned to their owners and 12 were adopted, a 95% average!

Minnesota-born, and the wife of a retired member of Princeton University's administrative staff, Mrs. Stephens has been a Princetonian since 1935. As interested as she is in other activities, including the Stony Brook Garden Club, her first concern is for her volunteer duties as League president. For instance, her dog is a 9-year old black poodle, Gamin, whom, she recalls, "was brought to the shelter when he was about a year old. He was sick, half-starved and had obviously been beaten." Watching Gamin bounce around her Stanworth apartment, Mrs. Stephens reminisces: "It's a tremendous satisfaction to bring a dog like that back to health and a sense of security."

For assuming prime responsibility for humane work which is vitally important in the pell-mell rush of modern-day Princeton; for minimizing her own contributions to the development of a distinctive community "institution"; she is—at the risk of incurring her extreme displeasure—Town Topics' nominee for

"TONIGHT'S THE NIGHT"

Final "Blight" Hearing. Highlighted by a brief, but intense spontaneous speech from former Borough Mayor Minot C. Morgan, Jr., the second and as it turned out, final Borough Planning Board hearing on the question of blight in the Green-Hulsh-John-Witherspoon area was held Tuesday night in the Engineering Building. The Planning Board will now consider the evidence placed before it in the two hearings and will then make a report to Mayor and Council. After receiving the report, Council has 30 days in which to approve, disapprove or modify.

It was a highly vocal three-hour hearing, attended by about 200 persons and punctuated by frequent angry outbursts between attorneys for residents of the area, members of the Planning Board and, occasionally, members of the audience. On two occasions in the course of the evening, Braxton Ellene, 110 Witherspoon, asked Mayor Raymond F. Mele, "How do you feel about this whole thing as the citizen, not as a mayor?" On each occasion, Martin Beck, Planning Board chairman, said that Mr. Mele would eventually express his opinion, but that he did not intend to do so at the hearing.

The question of cross examination came up, as it had at the first hearing. David Dietz, appearing as attorney for Burnett Griggs, crossed legal swords with William Miller, counsel for the Planning Board, when Mr. Miller asked to question a Dietz witness. Mr. Miller said the Board was not cross-examining, but merely asking questions to determine facts and to clarify conflicting opinions.

Facts Are Sought. "We have not yet made up our minds on blight," Board member Charles R. Erdman, Jr., said heatedly when Mr. Dietz accused the Board of cross-examining his witness. "Facts are what we want, that's all. You act as though we were on the opposite side of the fence from you and we're not at all."

After a fusillade between Mr. Miller and Mr. Beck on the one hand, and Charles R. Spiering, attorney for two "blight" area families on the other, in which Mr. Spiering shouted that Mr. Miller had no right to speak for members of the Board ("can he read your minds?"), former Mayor Morgan rose and, reminding himself above the legal tumult, asked whether other interested citizens could speak.

Former Mayor Speaks. "I speak from my love of Princeton and my civic conscience," Mr. Morgan said. He spoke of Princeton as a community where, for 200 years, people have earned their livings in education, "either as professors, or as janitors."

"I think we should stop talking of things and begin to talk of people," Mr. Morgan said. "To me, the Borough's Master Plan is shocking because its long-range objective is to make Princeton the commercial center for 100,000 people and because it proposes an extension of Urban Renewal from Witherspoon all the way to Linden Lane."

"Who is it that wants Princeton commercial? Probably the Chamber of Commerce—no body else I've talked to—and I say, let's stop it. What about the people in modest homes between here and Linden Lane?"

"Colored people displaced by Urban Renewal can only go outside the Borough and Township. White people of modest income would be displaced because of real estate inflation and would also have to move out. Do we want this town to be an all-white, upper-income shopping center, or do we want the kind of people who earn their living in education?"

"I think we must consider people, and not commerce or automobiles and I think we have the courage not to turn this community over to real estate interests and shopping centers."

Mr. Morgan, who received an ovation for his comments, spoke only as a private citizen. So did Mrs. Lawrence N. Kerr, real estate agent, who said that a determination of blight was not in the public interest, because Princeton Municipal Improvement, Inc., as owner of the properties in question, could relieve the "blight" whenever it desired to do so. Mrs. Kerr also objected to projects proposed for the next 20 years by the Master Plan.

Mrs. Gordon Craig, speaking for the Princeton Housing Group, expressed the organization's opposition to "blight" and urged meetings between Borough officials and residents of the area to work out an overall plan.

Mrs. Maurice H. Smith of Princeton Monthly Meeting,

"Please Leave Us Alone"

Into the smoky hurly-burly of legal wrangling, shouting lawyers, and technical splitting the characterized Tuesday night's final "blight" hearing, came the small quivering voice of a woman who now lives on Green Street and who has lived in the Princeton community for 60 years.

She was Bertha Brandon Hill, an elderly but articulate woman who has spoken before at similar hearings on behalf of her people and her generation. She spoke of Princeton as she had known it in 1900, of the friends who gave $100 to help build a hospital for Princeton, of the house she now owns on Green Street. She said that P.M.I. had asked three times to buy her house and she said she had been told that "there are ways of getting it if you won't sell."

As she has in the past, she spoke with eloquence, and as in the past, she concluded with a quiet, "Why won't you leave us alone?"

Religious Society of Friends read a statement suggesting that rehabilitation of old houses rather than destruction might provide an answer, and asked why Borough officials had not forced property owners to comply with building and sanitation codes. Her statement asked that a firm Master Plan be made public.

P.M.I. Speaks. Princeton Municipal Improvement, Inc., through its president, Fred M. Blatcher, presented a statement of its position on Urban Renewal. The corporation believes that the Avalon-Wigwag link street should be completed as soon as possible, but not until the satisfactory relocation of families now living where the new street would go. P.M.I. is in favor of public housing as the most practical of relocating these families in a short period of time.

The statement also denied that there has ever been an agreement or an implied understanding that P.M.I. would be the developer if Urban Renewal went into effect, and goes on to say that P.M.I. is not convinced that either the new street or public housing has to come through Urban Renewal.

When the relocation of Jackson seemed imminent, the statement says, P.M.I. officials decided "it would have been imprudent to spend a considerable sum of money for the renovation of houses which appeared to be ready for removal and we have therefore only undertaken necessary repairs to maintain them in habitable condition. Conversely, when the Borough Council established the fact that Green Street would remain a residential area, P.M.I. immediately undertook major repairs."

The chief speakers of the three-hour session were witnesses called by Mr. Dietz. David Popowicz, city planner with the University of Pennsylvania, presented a 14-page statement explaining why he did not consider the area subject to a "highly" determination.

He contended that the two blocks in question did not form a unit, that the northern block, the "blight" definition and the southern block did not, and he suggested that the main purpose for combining the two blocks must be some reason other than blight, a reason "purpose" has not been demonstrated to be clearly in the public interest."

Countering the house-by-house report by Edmund Coolidge at the first hearing, Mr. Dietz presented a house-by-house report by Morton S. Kline, real estate appraiser.

Mr. Kline said he found properties fronting on Witherspoon between Jackson and Hurlish in excellent condition. He also said that properties on the north street of Jackson had, in his opinion, been neglected, but that neither the engineer nor the Borough Health department had ever issued summonses to the owner.

"University of Pennsylvania," said Mr. Popowicz, contrasted the "blight" definition on blocks with the Jackson street block. He said, of the former, that he had no other than blight, a reason "purpose" has not been demonstrated to be clearly in the public interest."

Mr. Dietz read into the record the portion of the Borough ordinance which requires the building inspector to enforce the code and provides fines and penalties for property owners who do not comply. He also introduced into the record a Borough ordinance providing for the repair, closing or demolition of dwellings unfit for habitation, and the housing portion of the Borough Board of Health's sanitary code.

We heard an argument about superlatives, with one side saying that no enlightened person believes in such nonsense, and the other side offering samples of intelligent people whose actions tend to prove the opposite to be true. ROUNDUP

May madness hit the University campus a little earlier Saturday near midnight when a group of about 50 students moved from the campus in the Ball Field to the railroad station where a "dinky" window was broken and a bench thrown on the tracks. University rioters and police broke up the mob with no arrests, objection to the University's "half-way" measures in granting a later curfew on women in dormitory rooms was reportedly the cause of the occasional disturbance. On a more erudite level, Harvard students were rioting last week against the change in language on their diplomas from Latin to English.

Three youngsters were involved in accidents last week—the four-year-old son of Mrs. Vaughan Kanrow of Old Bridge who was visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Kenan of 50 Southern Way, was pinned under the rear wheel of his mother's car, parked in the Kenans' driveway, whether the emergency brake slipped or was released is not known; the child was treated at Princeton Hospital and released with no apparent internal injuries.

Frederick Hillard, 3, of 13 Bank Street was knocked down Monday on Bank by a car driven by Robert E. Simpson, 23. Mr. Simpson took the boy to his home in Cranbury where he was examined by Dr. Peter F. Dellman who found minor bruises.

Police reported James Tkacs, 7, of 252 North Harrison Street, turned his bicycle into the path of a car driven by John Ott, 18, of Hackettstown, on North Harrison, after stopping to ask if young Tkacs was uninjured. Mr. Ott drove away, he has been charged with leaving the scene of an accident, his license number was obtained by James Lackey, 12, of 222 North Harrison, the Tkacs boy sustained abrasions.

In other accidents, Miss Elizabeth M. Patko, 18, of Rocky Hill, veered right while driving a Flower Basket station wagon on Witherspoon, hit the parked car of Steven Hinds of 21 Lytle, the following chain involved cars belonging to Dr. S. Robert Lewis of 73 Woodlawn Road, Miss Ermeline Gaskins of Route 206, and Charles J. Titus of Ann Arbor, Mich.

A Nassau News truck driven by Louis Lucarelli of 102½ Leigh Avenue, struck the parked car of William Barnes, 28, of 221 Marshall, last Wednesday, and then the building itself. The truck veered left when Lucarelli reached out to catch hanging papers. While Fred Goldsborough of 96 Einstein Drive was away from his car parked near 155 John last Wednesday, the car was slashed to the tune of $105.

ROAD PLAN APPROVED

By Township Committee. After several months of discussion and re-drafting, Township Committee approved Monday night its construction and reconstruction plan for new and old Township roads. Highlights of the new policy:

- Paved public streets. Property owners will not be assessed for paving improvements, but will for sidewalks. Curbs are considered part of "paving." If a public street has never been paved, the Township will pay one-third, the property owners two-thirds. Sidewalks installed for public need will be paid for 50-50 by Township and property owners.

- Private streets. If they are not improved according to Township standards, Committee will accept them and improve them only if it's in the public interest to do so, and will pay one-third of the cost, the property owners paying the other two-thirds. If at least half of the owners along a street and the owners of at least half of the front footage petition the Township to take over and pave a street, the Township will do so, assessing the owners for the entire cost.

- Developments. The developer must complete improvements before the streets are accepted. If the developer defaults, the proceeds from his bond will be used to pay for the roads and the balance, if any will be assessed to property owners. (Committee said that bonds are now required to be large enough to cover such contingencies as inflation, and so on.) Committee hopes that the Planning Board will shortly require a developer to put in all improvements before a building permit is issued. Committee member John S. Mount protested the adoption of the policy, saying that capital improvements increased taxes and that he thought property owners should bear the whole burden of road improvement. He proposed an amendment to this effect, but no one seconded his motion.

Committee passed, after public hearing, the ordinance to improve (widen, curb, sidewalks) Franklin Avenue, amending the ordinance following adoption of the road policy to make it clear that curbs were included in road improvement, and that the Franklin Avenue residents would not have to pay for anything except half of the sidewalks. The amended ordinance will again be up for public hearing. The date: May 22.

Committee accepted the assessors' reports on several sewers and one sidewalk: the Mountain Avenue, Witherspoon, Riverside Drive, West and second Prospect Avenue sewers and the Prospect Avenue sidewalk.

Assessments for "potential future use" were challenged by two residents concerned. Mrs. Gordon Knox, Mountain Avenue, told Committee that she already had a sewer on one side of her property and did not need another. Township attorney Gordon Griffen told her that the new sewer, which is on the other side, increased the value of her property, and that this increase did not depend upon a present owner's plans for the land, but on the market value of the property.

Henry Schmidt, owner of the former Shelton Motor building, on Witherspoon, also protested. He was assessed for two

CRASH IS FATAL

To Playhouse Employee. William A. Oliver, 36, Kingston, was fatally injured early Saturday morning when his car smashed into a utility pole on Main Street in Lawrenceville. Oliver, an usher at the Princeton Playhouse, died in Helene Fuld Hospital, Trenton 15 hours after the accident.

Miss Trueman Boone, 26, 116 Leigh Avenue, Oliver's companion in the car at the time of the accident, is in serious condition at the Trenton hospital. She is an employee of the Princeton Seminary cafeteria.

Oliver was given several transfusions before his death from a fractured pelvis and ruptured bladder. Lawrence Township police said that his car was heading south when it crossed the center line of the wet road and crashed into the pole near the junction of Monroe Avenue and Lawrence Road.

Surviving are Oliver's wife, Mrs. Dolores Oliver; a daughter, Marjorie; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Oliver of Princeton and two sisters, Mrs. Marceline Yates of Princeton and Mrs. Barbara Williams of Trenton.

Services were held Wednesday at the First Baptist Church, the Rev. Dr. William T. Parker officiating. Interment was in Princeton Cemetery under the direction of the Anderson Funeral Service.

Richard Rosenblad, 18, of 7 Shoreline Road and Ernest C. Hosen, 17, of 7 Blawieburg Road, Skillman each pleaded guilty to charges of careless driving. Rosenblad was fined $10 and had his license revoked for 30 days; Hosen was fined $30.

In other cases Rahab Shehender, 36, of 107 Autumn Hill Road was fined $18, speeding and Gerald L. Carlson, 38, of 82 Harris Road, 515, following too close. Shehender denied the speeding offense.

In criminal court Mrs. Ella Riddick, 60, of 12 Quarry Street was fined $35 for assault and battery. Mrs. Pearl Dashielle, same address, was also fined $35 for using offensive and abusive language. Mrs. Dashielle was the complainant against Mrs. Riddick and vice-versa. Both pleaded not guilty.

News Of The THEATRES

"MIKADO" TO OPEN
This Thursday, The Savoyards' presentation of Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Mikado" will open this Thursday evening at 8:30 in McCarter, with additional evening performances scheduled for Friday and Saturday. There will be a Saturday matinee at 2:30.

Alton Wade is stage director, with Vernon Boushell handling the musical direction. Lawrence and Audrey Estey are assisting in staging the production.

The leading role of Ko-Ko will be taken by Lee H. Bristol Jr. with Insley B. Fene. Robert will take the part of Yum-Yum. Tickets for all four performances are available at the University Store and at the McCarter boxoffice prior to each performance.

THREE ON LADDERS
In Murray Theatre. A stage reading of modern American humor, titled "A Lass, Two Lads and Three Ladders," will be given at midnight this Friday and Saturday in Murray Theatre. Authors to be heard include J. D. Salinger, Dorothy Parker, Damon Runyon and Jules Feiffer.

The "lads" is Rob Colby, a student at Bryn Mawr. The two "Lads" are Jeffrey Moss and William Herman. All three will be perched on ladders, the sole props.

"LA RONDE" PRESENTED
An Entertaining Farce. Theatre Intime's first production of its 40th anniversary season, Arthur Schnitzler's "La Ronde," manages to come off quite well in comparison to some of the earlier productions of the year. In fact, "La Ronde" may be one of Intime's most successful productions, at least from an acting standpoint.

The play consists of a round-robin seduction sequence, set in ten scenes. In the opening minutes, a prostitute seduces a soldier. The second scene finds the soldier seducing a parlor maid, and then the parlor maid becomes involved with a young gentleman. The play runs full cycle, through all levels of society, until, finally, a Count goes home with the prostitute of the opening scene.

Almost as intriguing as the play itself is the tendency of the audience to light matches and lighters between scenes to look at the program and determine who is next. The play is very effective, as characters from all social ranks comment identically on the "mere intoxication" of love, as presented by Schnitzler.

The acting, throughout the production, is maintained at a fast, light-hearted level. Happily, the elements of farce humor are exploited, and there is no

Triangle to the Coast

For the first time in its six decades of theatrical activity, the Princeton University Triangle Club will go to California on its annual Christmas tour.

Announcement was made this week that the club will present its 1961-62 musical in San Francisco and Los Angeles and possibly Santa Barbara. Another "first" will take place when the entire cast, chorus, orchestra, stage crew and scenery are flown to the Coast—from Omaha, Neb., on December 23.

In other years, the Triangle has performed throughout the south and as far away as Missouri, Oklahoma and Texas. The inclusion of California on the itinerary has been made, said club president Alexander S. Kennedy, "to correct a long injustice to the west."

attempt at intersecting a not of deep tragedy into a basically funny idea, a common trend in today's stage and movie fare. Special acting mention must go to Maria Tucci as the Actress, William Pierce as the Poet, and Edward Callanan as the Husband.

Technical Defects. Counterbalancing the acting, however, were several production difficulties which had not been ironed out even by the third performance. Mr. Pierce's lighting came on and off without purpose, occasionally illuminating stagehands, and music cues were missed twice. It would seem, too, that Intime's props are celebrating their 40th anniversary, for the couch and bed, which necessarily received a lot of use, looked as if they might collapse at any moment.

"La Ronde" is scheduled for 8:30 performances Wednesday through Saturday in Murray Theatre. Obviously designed for the University's Houseparties Weekend festivities, it stands, however, as an entertaining, if racy, small-theatre production.

phy of a St. Louis Jesuit who specializes in reforming criminals. In addition to playing the title role, newcomer Don Murray co-produced the picture and was one of the two scriptwriters. Murray's portrayal of the hip-talking, easy pastor is a neat job of character delineation, and the other members of the starless cast are equally effective.

Murray's attempts, ultimately successful, to establish a

SOUTH OF THE BORDER: Shirley Jones and Cantinflas cavort in "Pepe." The star-studded comedy, in widescreen and color, will be featured at the Playhouse beginning Wednesday.

Halfway House for redeemable lawbreakers — together, with his running battles with skeptical newsmen and law officers, make up the bulk of the film. His work with the ex-convicts is indicated through the character of Kerr Dulles, a former jailbird who learns to take the rough with the smooth in his difficult fight to try "the going straight bit." Simplicity and seriousness of purpose are the evident characteristics of the film, which is a good vehicle for Murray's first starring role.

All Hands on Deck (May 7-9) is a morose service comedy starring Pat Boone, Buddy Hackett, Barbara Eden and Dennis O'Keefe. Boone, whose uniquely expressionless singeing voice is matched by his wooden acting, is optimistic as a young officer who conducts a chaste affair with Miss Eden. Hackett is occasionally diverting as an obnoxious Indian who is incensed when the cowboys win in Westerns. The film is in CinemaScope and color.

This is the type of film usually deemed suitable for children, by which it means that it will pervert nothing but their esthetic judgement. In any case, one has to be awfully young to think there is still something funny about a girl being secreted aboard ship during an office inspection.

THE GARDEN

The Big Deal on Madonna Street (May 2-6) is a delightful spoof of the type of precise crime film exemplified by "Rififi." Vittorio Gassman, Renato Salvatori, Toto and Marcello Mastroianni are featured in the highly professional cast, and Mario Sironi directed the funny script with evident relish. The film is in Italian with subtitles.

The big deal of the title is a carefully planned nocturnal safe-cracking in an Italian pawnshop. The would-be criminals work carefully and studiously in planning the job, and their confidence in their scientific methods, together with the incredible burgling that turns the heat into a farce, makes for consistent good humor and occasional hilarity. Recommended.

Separate Tables (May 8), a 1956 release, is an impressive, if sometimes sentimental, enterprise. The screenplay, by Terence Rattigan and John Gay, preserves the power of Rattigan's well-received Broadway play while recounting the story of a group of young to middle-aged neurotics who have gathered in a dingy seaside hotel on England's south coast. Deborah Kerr, a sensitive woman dominated by her mother, shares a pitiful love with David Niven, an ex-British Army major who boasts of his family background and wartime exploits in an effort to mask his basic ineffectuality.

The hotel owner, Wendy Hillier, is infatuated with Burt Lancaster, who seeks therapy at a nearby pub for the scars of his marital breakdown with Rita Hayworth. Lancaster is forced to come to grips with his problems when Miss Hayworth shows up with visions of reconciliation dancing in her head.

The standout portrayal is delivered by Niven. Lancaster is convincing as the sodden sufferer, and Miss Hayworth gives one of the better performances of her checkered career. Recommended.

Make Mine Mink (May 9-13), a satire of the intricate, unsavoryly satisfactory, as "The Big Deal on Madonna Street," but it has the advantage of starring Terry-Thomas. Thomas (we've decided that that's his last name, despite the hyphen) is a remarkably able comedian, whose most recent roles have included the personnel manager in "I'm All Right, Jack" and the pompous sportsman in "School for Scoundrels."

Thomas here plays an ex-Army major who is boarding in the London apartments owned by Athene Seyler. With the other paying guests, Thomas hits on the plan of stealing furs in order to support Miss Seyler's charitable enterprises. The careful planning and partial success of the thefts is entertaining, and several scenes in which the indefatigably unclack. The musical score by Philip Green is excellent.

NEW SHOP IN TOWN

For Gifts, Accessories. At the new shop called The Money Tree at 262 Alexander Street, you can buy traditional crewel-work Indian embroidery or a dandied Princeton tiger rug done in natural and black straw stripes. You may also buy certain kinds of merchandise that fall, shall we say, in between.

But first, that tiger. To begin with, he is 4 x 6 feet in dimension. To proceed with, he also comes in zebra or leopard and he was made in Spain. To conclude, he is a rug without a head and would be very happy on a summer porch.

The crewel work may be had in several variations. Buy a superb bedspread with the classic pure wool embroidery done on a deep natural fabric for $60.

Or buy just enough to cover the seat of a chair or the shiver of a sizeable cushion, for $10 including undressed fabric for the back. The wools are black and white or two shades of orange. If you'd like crewel by the yard, Money Tree will have a sample to order from.

A newswoman closer to home has made the ponchelloni — little circles of water-proof for little girls all dressed up and ready to go to a party in the rain. There is a circle of yellow, blue, pink or violet plastic lined with a matching print.

A slit in the middle of the circle accommodates the head, and a hood attached to the edge of the slit protects the hairdo from rain. There's even a little pocket. The same design has been worked in gingham-lined terry and labeled "Sun Serape." It has no hood.

For mother, buy a coolie coat just long enough to cover a bathing suit. Black, coral, natural, turquoise, or red, for $6 in cotton. (Another $1.25 and you can have a coolie hat.)

The prize hats, however, are the ones from Mexico and Peru, made for mothers or very small daughters. The Zacaneta has a point on top of its crown with three long, bright ribbon streamers blowing from it like wind indicators.

Other streamers zoom out at each side. The Huastan is as flat as a hat as you'll ever see, with broad brim and hardly any crown. The narrow edge of the crown has been looped with dark red felt ribbon. Hats are $3 and $4.

To take to the beach (and remember to bring home) Money Tree has a straw mat bound with cotton and patched with two big elasticized pockets. You fold it all up and snap it together, and you have an easy carry-all with handle.

For summer informality, Money Tree suggests rugs from Italy, Portugal, Japan and points east and west. Some have fruit or white, some are

It Grows on Trees

What grows on trees? Why, money, of course. Where you've been? The newest shop to exploit the well-known principle that where there's rub, there's a penny is a place called The Money Tree on Alexander Street between Rosedale Lockers and John Obal's Garden Market.

To underscore its name, the shop has a golden money tree (so convenient to have a nursery right next door) from which will dangle various items, according to the whim of the shop's owner, Laurie Vance Johnson. Jewelry, perhaps, or scarves or gift certificates when they are in season.

There is also a very small Money Tree on one of the green felt tables. When we saw it, tree was covered with money.

The new shop is open Tuesdays through Saturdays from 10-5.

deep glazed terra-cotta with glazed white lip, others are multi-color stripe. Give everybody a different one.

Cookies are stored these days in a birdcage cookie jar, a cookie castle, round or oblong cookie house or a cookie grape arbor, all done in forthright shiny pottery with bright decorations. And aping of the birdcage, you might like the $2 pottery birdhouse for a deserving wren. There is a glazed green or glazed bronze house, too, for $4.

On the clothing side, Money Tree has hand-crocheted straw skirts, great circular swoops of white or brown, made to be worn with aconopee blouses in black or beige straw. Trimmy-collared pongee blouses have short sleeves — wear them with the silk wrap-around skirt in raw silk or batik.

There's another wrap-around in patchwork madras, which ought to make anyone sit up and take notice. Plaids every which way. If you're more conservative (at least now and then), you'll choose an Italian lawn blouse, sleeveless, pastel, with round collar and horizontal tucks like shutters.

SHOE TREE

Another Part of the Forest. Having visited The Money Tree, we now go north to Palmer Square and the shop called the Nassau Shoe Tree, an establishment which also seems to be in full bloom.

Here we find such pleasures as the silk print pump with ladder high heel (tall ladder, that is) and an all-over spray flower in pink, blue, orange, yellow. No one color predominates, which makes

GLEE CLUB TO SING

For Houseparties Weekend. The Princeton University Glee Club will give its final concert of the season Friday from 8:15 to 9:15 p.m. in Alexander Hall. This concert, especially designed for Houseparties Weekend, will conclude a season of 18 appearances, among them a concert tour of Puerto Rico during Spring vacation. Features of the program will include a group of Broadway show tunes; the first Princeton performance of a set of three spirituals arranged by Walter Nollner, Glee Club conductor; and comic numbers by the so-called "Pink University Song and Spy Society from Russia," whose highlight will be the rousing "Gung Bahk."

The full group will also be heard in compositions by Schubert, Ives and Moussorgsky. Other features will be Princeton University songs and the first local performance of the alma mater of the University of Puerto Rico, collected during the recent Spring vacation tour.

General admission to the concert is $1.50. Tickets are now on sale at the Princeton University Store and will also be sold at the Alexander Hall box office the night of the performance.

PIANO CONCERT SET

Robert Bailey To Play. Robert Bailey, graduate student of musicology at Princeton University, will give a piano concert Monday at 8:30 p.m. in Clio Hall Auditorium on the University campus. The concert, which is sponsored by the Friends of Music at Princeton, is open to the public without charge.

Mr. Bailey, who has been appointed assistant in instruction in the Department of Music at Princeton for the next academic year, has selected Schumann's "Kreisleriana" as one of the featured works on his program. This rarely-performed work, which represents Schumann at the peak of his creative powers, is comprised of eight fantasy pieces based on sections of E. T. A. Hoffmann's book, "Fantasiestücke in Callot's Manier."

Other works on the program will be the "French Suite No. 3 in G major," by Bach; the "Ballade No. 4 in F minor, Opus 52," and the "Barcarolle, Opus 60," by Chopin; and Schumann's "Toccata, Opus 7," considered one of the most difficult works in piano literature.

Mr. Bailey, who was graduated from Dartmouth College in 1959, was for three years the accompanist and featured soloist of the Dartmouth College Glee Club. Upon graduation, he won a scholarship from Dartmouth for piano study with Friedrich Wuehr in Munich. He recently won critical acclaim for his performance of a cycle of Beethoven's "Fourth Piano Concerto" with the Elmyr Symphony Orchestra.

GOSPEL SONGS FEATURE

Of May 15 Concert. A gospel concert will be given Saturday, May 13, at 8:30 p.m. in McCarter Theatre. The concert will feature Clara Ward with the Ward Singers and the 100-voice choir from Newark under the direction of Professor Alex Bradford.

The seven Ward Singers, featuring Clara Ward, first gained national fame in 1943, when they sang at a Baptist convention. They have since toured throughout the United States and Europe. In appearances ranging from hackwoods revival meetings to concerts at the London Palladium and Carnegie Hall, New York. Especially well-known are their annual concerts at Convention Hall, Philadelphia, and their performance at the Newport Jazz Festival in 1957.

Professor Alex Bradford's 100-voice choir was organized last February in Newark. This will be the choir's first major appearance since its organization, but it has already been booked for appearances throughout the east and mid-west for this Spring and Summer. Included will be a concert in July at the Polo Grounds in New York.

Tickets to the Princeton concert may be obtained by writing McCarter Theatre, Box 536, Princeton, or by calling 5-1000. Prices are $1.50 and $2.50.

NEW CHOIR TO SING

In Miller Chapel, The Theological Seminary's new Motet Choir will give a concert next Thursday, May 11, at 7:45 p.m. in Miller Chapel. Mrs. Janice Harsanyi, who formed and trained the polyphonic group of 30 mixed voices, will direct the concert. She is visiting lecturer of music at the Seminary. The program, which will resemble the present Lutheran service, will include Bach's Motet No. 3, "Jesu, Meine Freude," and the 29th Psalm by Schutz. David Keminsky

Amateurs To Meet

Bach's "B minor Mass" will be performed by the Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs at its meeting Sunday at 5 p.m. at Miss Fine's School. Professor, Walter Nollner will conduct the orchestra.

the shoe a masterful stroke with any solid color dress. $19.95 by De Lido Deb. There is a match-made silk print with flowers in shades of beige and bronze.

A sleek spectator is bound with narrow tan and tapered off with a toe divided half and half in tan and brown. The high heel is all brown. Another spec is pure white with a perforated strip across the toe to provide the spectator look. Heel is medium on this one. A squared toe spectator has a squared vamp to match. The heel is medium.

Selby Arch Support is a shoe for women who may well have to walk in mud. It comes in a grained calf, natural color, natural walking heel with brown trim, and also in a dress shoe with a moderate heel and a rounded toe. A bow on the instep adds dash. In white, this shoe is $18.95 with a stacked brown walking heel.

When it's really hot, you'll want Shoe Tree's straw with cork wedge heel and leather vamp following the instep. It's called "Soda Cooler." "Town Topic" is the name of a bare calf wedgie with stitched vamp. "Sunset Strip" is a white wedgie with two looped straps, along heel and puddled sole. If you're over the age of — well, let's say if you're in your teens, you'll like "Teen Hop," a skimmer in black or white, print lined, thus as a 15-year-old and gay as a juke box. Although of course there's "Flower Pot," a black straw with low wedge heel and an innocuous colored pompon on the toe.

Bags at The Shoe Tree are as big as Palmer Square itself. Here's a black straw trimmed with patent, the shape of a man's lunchbox and twice the size, a straw and leather (well — almost leather) satchel bag big enough to put your new shoes in ($19.95) and a bone colored burlyap, also trimmed with "leather," that has two zipper compartments and enough cubic inches to qualify as an overnight bag (now that the nights are shorter, anyway).

SAUCEPAN REDUCED

Price, Not Size. Coming offers, until May 13, a one-quart saucepan in that handsome white pyroceram with blue flowers, at $2.88 instead of $3.95. Glass cover, too. Urken's says "Take advantage."

Also at Urken's, we found Scott's new Zephyr, a spray gun with a long, Martin-like nozzle spooned at the end to spray the dust under the leaves where the little creatures are. Costs $14.95, but is solid and superbly designed. With it, use Bon to chase away mosquitoes, flies, chiggers, bag worms, ants, fleas and spider mites, or Haze for whatever is on your roses. The screw-top can fits on the nozzle.

Hungry plants will welcome Ross' root feeder which you attach to your garden hose. Into the feeder you put one of three cartridges: 10-20-20 for evergreens, 15-20-10 for roses, 9-16-15 for transplants. Then turn on the hose, jab the feeder into the ground and there you are. (Better reverse that process, now that we think of it.)

Or, you can buy a plastic bottle to fasten to your hose if you want to dilute your feeder. Set the dial on the bottle to "1 ton, per gallon," or whatever, and the control will dilute the contents of the bottle with the water from the hose.

Topics Of The Town

The Witherspoon corner after Borough officials had assured them that, although some of the land might be required for the proposed realignment of Jackson, there was no indication that this would interfere with the new office building.

Adlerman and Click state that they conferred at some length with Mr. Brokew, with Borough attorney John F. McCarthy, Jr. and with Councilman Albert A. Austen in order to make sure that Urban Renewal "was limited in its possible effects on the property." After assurance from Borough officials, the real estate firm says, it proceeded to tear down the old house so that it could obtain the building permit to construct the new office building.

In a letter written on March 30, the company states in its brief, it was given written notice for the first time that the Borough wanted its property for public use. According to Adlerman and Click, Mayor and Council had met in mid-March and passed a resolution for the acquisition of the property for public use. The "public use," according to the firm, is not defined.

The complaint states that Adlerman and Click are entitled to a building permit, which the engineer refuses to issue. In addition to the show-cause order, the firm asks the court to declare Borough Council's resolution concerning the property null and void.

APARTMENTS PROPOSED
For West Windsor. A proposal to construct a new garden-style apartment on 20 acres of land in West Windsor Township will be presented this Thursday before the township Zoning Board of Adjustment.

Stanley Fielder will ask the Board for a special permit to build the apartments on Pennington Road and Village Road West in Dutch Neck. The property is known as the Greenway Farm. The plan is to build one and two-bedroom units in the center of the 20-acre plot. There is no multiple housing now in West Windsor.

Brand new wedding gowns; leading manufacturers' samples, retailing up to $300. Sold from $39 to $99. Latest styles as shown in brides magazines and best shops. All perfect dresses. Many beautiful designer's originals at 1/2 off retail price in THIS BRAND LARGEST COLLECTION OF BRIDALS. Also latest bridesmaids' gowns, cocktail gowns and formal. Wonderful opportunity for bride-to-be. NUMEROUS SATISFIED CUSTOMERS. All appointments evenings and Saturdays. Phone:

According to the new West Windsor zoning ordinance, multiple housing is permitted anywhere except in a "village residential" area. The Fielder project would be in a "rural" area and therefore does not need a variance; however, the ordinance requires a special permit from the zoning Board.

At the last meeting of the West Windsor Planning Board, Sands Associates' request for permission to build two model homes, was deferred by the Board. Residents of the township told the Board they were afraid that the Sands company would use the models, not just as samples of development homes, but as offices in which to conduct business connected with distant developments. The area has been zoned "village residential."

WILL ELECT OFFICERS

At Next Jaycee Meeting. New officers for the coming term will be elected at the next monthly meeting of the Princeton Jaycees to be held May 18 at 8:30 in the Campus Center of the Princeton Theological Seminary.

John Lasley of Cherry Valley Road has been appointed Jaycee representative to the newly formed Youth Employment Service. The group was the "Roll the Barrel" contest on inter-chapter visitation and received a cash prize of $43.00. Jaycees have passed a resolution supporting the Peace Corps program and urging all state chapters to give their support.

DEAR TRAVELEX,

From our old pals on the See Safari we hear: "After putting our big toe into the frigid South Atlantic from the Union of Clifton, we went away. We loved the Bermuda-like climate of this suburb of Cape Town but after all—we wanted to stay with the ship!

Our next stop was Durban—still in the Union of South Africa; then, Laurence Marques, Zanzibar, Mombasa, Djibouti, through the Suez Canal (the toll for our ship was $15,000) to Alexandria. Holy cow what nights we saw! The SPHINX, the PYRAMIDS and Adonis Ababa, Ethiopia's Capital, O Mogosh. We even hunted BIG game!!

Now that we're up in the Mediterranean we'll stop at Messina and Naples, Barcelona and Lisbon. They say we had Capri, Pompeii, Rome, the Monastery of Montserrat and Our Lady of Fatima on the agenda! We can hardly wait! We'll land in New York on May 10 and we'll be anxious to get home, too. But Ooooh what a cruise!!!"

As ever, Nancy copyright 1961

P.S. What's all this I hear about Dick taking a group on a Gourmet's Tour of Europe in October???

Question of the Week

Question: What is the best book you have read in the past 12 months?

Where asked: Bryn Mawr Book Sale, Chambers Street.

Wayne H. Phelps, Graduate College, graduate student English: "The Jacobean Drama" by T. W. Higginson. "It is a vivid portrayal of the development of English drama during one of the most important centuries in English literature. It represents a painstaking piece of scholarship. Its five substantial volumes are readable by the layman and worth the unrelenting attention of anyone interested in Shakespeare's followers in the drama."

Ulrich Knoefmacher, 219-D Halsey Street, graduate student English: "A Study in Provincial Life" by Marian Evans. It is a good account of the difficulties of a 19th century physician in a provincial town.

Mrs. Marjorie French, Main Street, Lawrenceville, a librarian at ETS: I guess any of the books by C. P. Snow. He's discussing a situation that exists in today's life. That is, the relationship between the scientific and humanistic fields; whether or not the emphasis of education should be placed in the scientific or humanistic area and the problem of communication between the two.

Herbert McVeeny, 67 Grove Avenue, teacher, Country Day School: "Ring of Bright Water" by Gavin Maxwell. He's a beautiful written book about a man who has an offer for a pet.

Mrs. David Porter, 218-C Eisenhower Street, housewife: "Barchester Towers" by Anthony Trollope. It has such a keen and, at the same time, genial wit. There is a great sense of humanity about Trollope.

Carl Altman, 14 Constable Road, Franklin Park, research engineer: I would say Will Durant's "Caesar and Christ." It gave me a deep appreciation of the Romans' political accomplishments and the state of civilization they had achieved. I also felt that many of the political problems facing us today — their analogues could be found in Roman times.

Mrs. Robert Danielson, 13 S. Stanworth Drive, housewife: "The Story of the Economic Growth in Underdeveloped Countries." I think it is the best to so many of the problems going on in the world today.

Paul B. Diederich, 213 Snow Hill Lane, research division of ETS: One which comes readily to mind is the translation of the Bible by Monsignor Ronald Knox, an English writer and distinguished theologian who possesses a keen sense of humor. It is the first Catholic translation of the Bible since the Douay version which was published about the same time as the King James version. I thought he did a magnificent job on the Epistles of St. Paul. He became a believable figure to me in more than any translation I have read.

Mrs. Edward F. D'Amico, 940 Kingston Road, housewife: C. P. Snow's "Science and Government," because the problems which Sir Charles poses in this book will have to be solved or the rest of our problems will no longer make any difference.

Thaddeus Longstrech, 112 Heather Lane, architect: I think Oscar Morag's most recent book, "Our National Defense." It's probably the most serious book today on the subject and I feel it is very important in our defense posture. It's very topical. I think that the administration in Washington is very complacent of what he says. He is a well-known Princeton author and is connected with and consulted by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Miss Sue Gittles, New York City, personnel division of ETS: "Journey to Java" by Sir Harold Nicholson. Like the way he writes and what he says about people. This book contains his personal reminiscences of a trip he took to celebrate his 70th birthday.

Thomas E. MacAdam, Clarksville Road, Princeton Junction, Princeton theological student: "Exodus" for fiction. It dealt with a contemporary subject. It was obviously biased but nevertheless it captured the spirit of the people who tried to make a nation out of Israel. It's a controversial book. Even a lot of people from Israel claim it isn't quite as accurate a picture of Israel as it could be.

Mrs. Arthur Sathmar, 41 University Place, housewife: "The Arts and Craft of Drawing" by Vernon Binks. The author is not only an artist himself but he is familiar with and uses textual examples of great art of both the East and West. He really knows what is important in art.

Robert Rockabrand, 169 Calbreath Drive, teacher, Westminster Choir College: "The Christian Teacher" by LeVere. It was read for a specific purpose, as I was considering teaching at the time. The book contained ideas for teaching, approaches, concepts and dealt with specific teaching situations. The whole point of the book was a Christian approach to teaching, using Christian ethics.

Mrs. Keith Robertson, Booknoll Farm, Hopewell, book seller: "The Waning of the Middle Ages" by a French writer who has been translated. It is a very good picture of explanation of the Middle Ages. It portrays the mind, the spirit and the minds of the people of the time.

Edward Clydesdale, Oakdale Village, New Brunswick, student: I think "The Meaning of

People" by Paul Toynebe, I felt the book dealt with a facet of our life we overlook too often. We're so involved with machines, clubs, and keeping busy in general that we don't have time really to deal with people as people. The whole idea of the book was to present people as they really are instead of their everyday facades.

Mark Stavig, 225-D King Street, Graduate student, English, "The Plays of John Ford." Since I've been working on them for the last few months as the topic of my dissertation, I feel almost morally obligated to call them the best works I've read in the past year. However, I reserve the right to change my mind.

Report from THE MAYOR

Schedule Changes The regular weekly "Tell It to the Mayor" sessions will be held on Friday, May 5, Friday, May 12, and Friday, May 19, from 7 to 10 p.m. at Borough Hall. No appointment is necessary for these informal meetings.

The Mayor has had to change this week's session from the previously announced Thursday evening. On that day, May 4, the New Jersey Chapter of the American Association for the United Nations has insisted that the Princeton Mayor participate in their annual meeting at Montclair State College. The word of the year-long efforts of the Princeton community in support of UN work resulted in the urgent request for that participation in the state-wide meeting.

Ambassador A.O.D. 'More' Meanwhile, Princeton's international visitors continue in increasing numbers. The Mayor's guest on Friday and Saturday was Dr. Andre Akapko, the representative from the Republic of Togo.

Dr. Akapko is Ambassador to the United States and to the United Nations from his nation. He is a physician and surgeon, trained in Paris. He was until last week a member of his country's national assembly.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES: Operation Alert on Friday drew a group of townspeople and undergraduates to Palmer Square to protest the alert and to urge passers-by to consider the proposals of the state Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy. Across the street, in front of the First Presbyterian Church, a smaller group, consisting mostly of undergraduates, gathered with opposing placards. (Staff Photos)

He is Mayor of Lome, the capital city of Togo. He plans to bring Mrs. Akapko and their five young children to the U.S. in June. On Friday evening, the Ambassador was confronted by a recreation room-full of typical Princeton teenagers. He practiced his English in talking with them, and he insisted successfully that they use their French to reply.

It was great fun. And the latest teenage record favorite didn't seem to offend his musical taste, perhaps proving his diplomatic qualities.

Fourteenth Festival: In ceremonial dress, Ambassador Akapko formally opened the N.W.A.'s 14th annual International Festival on Saturday. This has become another Princeton tradition and the various exhibits were most impressive. A steady stream of visitors enjoyed the impressive sample of the ways of many nations around the world.

On Sunday afternoon, the many foreign students in Princeton were entertained at tea at the Festival. Elsewhere, the town was hugging with visitors to many important meetings and events, including the impressive massed choirs in Palmer Stadium, an ambitious project undertaken by Westminster Choir College alumni and staff.

Play Ball: On Monday evening, just before Council's agenda session, the Mayor threw out the first ball for Princeton's Midget League.

On hand were the retiring league Commissioner, B. E. Bergeson, who has served for Princeton's Midget League, post, and his successor Robert C. Decker. The players, 10 to 12 years of age, seemed anxious to get the season under way; but a mist turning rapidly to rain was trying its best to dissuade them.

Brush Up: Cleanup week has come and gone, but Borough Council would like to remind property owners that the brush piled between sidewalk and curb in various parts of town cannot be picked up by Borough forces. The proper place for this is the Borough dump for more properly "sanitary land fill."

There it can legally be burned. Pride in Princeton would call for cooperation in removing these piles of debris at a time when our town is trying to put its best spring-time foot forward.

One Penny Less: The Borough was notified by the County tax board that its 1963 of fiscal tax rate will be $6.37 per hundred dollars of assessed valuation. This is one penny less than had been anticipated.

The Borough Collector has asked that we remind those who forget that May 1 was the due date for Borough taxes. Prompt payment avoids the 4 per cent interest penalty that we must charge by law.

'CRUCIAL CONTEST' LOOMS

With Harvard in lacrosse. An action-packed lacrosse game is assured Saturday when Princeton plays Harvard, chief pretender to the Ivy crown. The contest on Poe Field will start at 2:30 and there will be no admission charge.

The high-scoring Crimson has not played the tough opponents Princeton has, but it has shown a particularly steady attack in rolling to an 11-0 record. Included are one-sided victories over Cornell and Penn in Ivy action.

Dave Bohn, the nation's highest scorer in 1960, is pacing the Harvard attack, with Grady Watts, who led in assists, also on hand again to give the Caribs a solid punch. Their respective totals were 51 and 67, while the team record last year was a fine 12-3-1.

That lone deadlock was an 11-11 tie with Princeton and it cost the Crimson a share in the title. Yale knocked off Harvard in their meeting and when Ferris Thomson's ten won its other four games, it took the league title for the fifth year in a row.

Dartmouth Trounced. Off its victory over Cornell, Dartmouth was figured to give Princeton a close battle Saturday but the Tigers sailed by the Green, 17 to 5. The Orange and Black had a 9-0 lead at the intermission and was in front by 15-0 before the visitors managed to score.

Princeton's first goal was registered at 2:22 of the opening round, and before the afternoon had ended, 13 players took part in the victors' scoring. Goalie Cookie Krongard turned in a fine performance in the Princeton nets, with the Tiger defense dominating play whenever the Green sought to move into opposition territory.

A contest with Penn, perennial cellar-dweller, is on the schedule at Philadelphia next Wednesday. Another "crucial contest" with Yale at New Haven will take place a week from Saturday, and will be the last big hurdle toward a five straight title. Cornell at Ithaca on May 20 will close out the schedule.

Wally Phillips, the Tigers' only hope for an occasional victory, was hammered at Dartmouth Saturday, giving 11 hits and seven runs before he was replaced by Tom Adams. The latter yielded four more tallies in the lone inning he worked.

The weather was miserable for the second Saturday in a row, but the Princeton defense committed only one error despite steady rain. The Tigers got away to a two-run lead in their half of the first, but Dartmouth promptly drew even and took over in the later innings. The losers collected a dozen hits but Dartmouth's 14 blows were good for 23 bases and the ball game.

TRACK MEET WITH YALE

In Stadium at 2. The third big event of the weekend, which will be marked by Princeton's annual house parties, is the track meet in Palmer Stadium against Yale. Despite the steady improvement of Coach Pete Morgan's forces, Yale is heavily favored. At Cambridge last Saturday, Penn and cold marked Harvard's 84-53 victory over the Tigers as the Crimson swept Eastern League champions on the broad jump, hammer and

"FIRST TIME IN FIFTEEN YEARS that we've scored in the Relays that I can remember." This comment from Princeton High School track coach Win Niles on the third place captured by John Beninger, Tom Harvey, Lamont Fletcher and Bill Lewis in their heat at the annual Penn Relays Saturday at Philadelphia, in its heat, the PHS quartet completed against 12 other teams, matched by school size and coming from as far away as Massachusetts and Washington. In Compton Cup Race. For the first time in a decade, the Compton Cup is likely to be won by Massachusetts (Institute of Technology, rather than Harvard and Princeton). The Engineers defeated Yale last week for the first time since 1950, and with both the Crimson and the Tigers below par this season, are favored to win this Saturday on the Charles River at Cambridge. Dartmouth will be an added starter.

On the Schockkill River at Philadelphia Saturday, Pennsylvania won the Childs Cup for the fourth straight year, defeating Princeton and Columbia. The inexperienced Tigers, whose personnel was shuffled after the Navy race, gave Penn a stiff battle, finally succumbing by a third of a length. The Quaker Jayvees and freshmen also won to sweep the river. At Ithaca, the same fate befell the 195th crew, which all lost to Cornell. The Wood-Hammond Cup will be at stake Saturday when the 15th row Penn at Philadelphia, with Harvard on added starter.

TIGER HOPES HIGH

In Golf and Tennis. A Princeton golf team which has swept by all opposition since losing two early-season matches in the south will take on Yale at New Haven Saturday. A Tiger triumph will be in the nature of an upset, since home-course advantages are so strong last weekend. Army here came Princeton's 10th straight victory as Coach Harry Kinnell's players won at West Point, 5 to 2.

Brown and Haver and will be here Friday and Saturday to provide Coach John Conroy's tennis team with Eastern Association opposition. This Princeton outfit is also uncertain since its southern trip, having knocked off six straight opponents in hardy fashion.

Costly errors caused the Blue and White to lose its first two games by one run. The hitters took over in the third and PHS ended up on the short end of a 15-11 score. The defeat was administered by Trenton High School Thursday on the Tornadoes' home diamond.

Error Costly. An error on a third strike that would have retired the side opened the way for visiting Long Branch to score all its runs in the third inning and go on to beat the Little Tigers, 3-1. The game—was played Friday afternoon before a chilled handful of spectators.

With two away and two men on, PHS pitcher John Rogers struck out the next batter but catcher Ray Britton, subbing for Dave Lanning, out with a broken finger, let the ball get by him and then threw wildly to first base in trying to cut down the batter. A run scored and, moments later, Paul Acerra singled home two more.

The losers avoided being shut out when they scored once in the fourth. A walk, Jack Britton's single and an error accounted for the lone run. Rogers was charged with his third loss.

FHS TRACKMEN WIN
Three Exing "tides," Easy winner in its last two dual meets, the Princeton High School track team will play host to Ewing High School Friday afternoon at Har's Field. Wednesday, the Blue and White travels to clash with always-tough Highland Park.

Twenty-one FHS cindermen placed as the Little Tigers notched a 74-23 — 42-13 victory, the second straight, over Hamilton High Friday. "The victors were never rested, despite the fact that PHS co-captain Lamont Fletcher, consistent winner in the high and low hurdles and broad jump, did not compete. The leading point-getter for the Blue and White is suffering a hamstring pull in his right leg.

Meet performances and times were held down by a brisk, cool wind. Double winners for Princeton were garnered by Tom Bogia, who took first in the 100 and 220, and by Howard Gould with top honors in the shot put and discus. Co-captain Joe Beachell continued his dominance in the javelin, winning handsily with a 179-foot toss.

Long Branch Tapped. The Little Tigers won their first dual meet of the season last week by defeating Long Branch, 77 to 40. "The winners took 13 of 13 events.

Fletcher scored 15 points, coming in first in the high and low hurdles and the broad jump. Gould added 10 more by winning the shot and discus. Other winners were John Bensinger, Beachell, Bogia, and Dick Bedford, Dick Montgomery and Bob Harrison tied for first in the pole vault.

HUNTINGTON WINS

As Bernard Takes 3 Firsts, Tom Huntington won the Carnegie Sailing Club regatta Sunday afternoon on Lake Carnegie with a cumulative total of 65 points.

Three of the races were won by John Bernard, with Huntington, Walt Foster, Phil Holt and Reeves Hicks finishing first in the others. Point totals for the top five included Foster, 59.5; Bernard, 58.4; Holt, 56.6; and Hicks, 48.

HOME GAMES SCHEDULED

For Four Lawrenceville Teams, Lawrenceville-School's baseball, golf and tennis teams will take on Ridgewood High School in home contests this Saturday. The track team will play host to St. Benedict's in a 2:30 p.m. meet. The baseball game and tennis match will also begin at 2:30, while the golf match will start at 2.

Next Wednesday at 2:30, the baseball team will play George School and the tennis team will face the Princeton University freshmen. The Red and Black trackmen will take on Princeton's freshmen at Princeton, while the golf team will travel to Hightstown for a match with Peddie.

Lawrenceville's baseball team scored its fifth straight victory without a loss last Wednesday, downing the Lehigh freshmen, 4-3. The Larries broke a 3-3 tie in the seventh frame when Dick Marshall walked and then scored on a wild pitch. Saturday's game with St. Benedict's at Newark was cancelled by inclement weather.

Lawrenceville's mile relay team took second place in the prep school championships of the 67th annual Penn Relays at Philadelphia's Franklin Field last Saturday. Richard Johnson, Eliot Jump, William Pfeiffer and John Gardner made up the Larrie team which finished 20 yards behind winning St. Benedict's.

Lawrenceville's 1 a c r o s s e team ran its season mark to 2-1 with victories over the Hun School last Wednesday and Peddie on Saturday. Hun succumbed by a 5-2 margin, while the Larries downed Peddie, 8-4.

The golf team beat Princeton University freshmen, 59-19, last Wednesday and scored a 6-1 victory over the University of Pennsylvania freshmen on Saturday. The team now has a 4-3 record.

The tennis team beat Blair Academy, 6-3, on Wednesday and then lost to Choate School by a one-sided score on Saturday. It has a 2-2 record.

BOWLING NOTES

Hectic Final Weeks Set. As the winter bowling season draws to a close in Princeton, several league championships remain in doubt as tight races continue. To highlight the action, Shelton Motors No. 2 and Yeoman's were tied at 72 points each in the "A" loop, with only two weeks remaining. This will be the last regular week of bowling, then the two teams meet on the "bumpers" night to determine the champion.

In the "B" League, Prince Laundro (72) held a two-game margin over Sportmen No. 2 with only two weeks of bowling remaining. And Applegate Floral Shop (83) was only two points ahead of Craft Cleaners in the Women's League. Only Nassau Del, in the Industrial loop, had a comfortable margin, leading the Crescents (42) by 13 points.

Kingston became the undisputed champion of the Tri-County Fireman's League, by edging Hook and Ladder "B" (60) by two to win both halves of the season. In the Mixed League, Mike Zeccola and

NEW HOME FOR NASSAU SAVINGS? Artist's sketch shows office building which Nassau Savings & Loan Association proposed to construct in residential zone at 19 Vandeventer Avenue, provided zoning variance is granted. Building will front on Vandeventer, with parking area in rear entered from Park Place. Porch on front has been eliminated to conform with front-yard zoning requirements.

BUSINESS In Princeton

Conflict in Borough. The conflict between Princeton Borough's present zoning ordinance and those suggested in the proposed new Master Plan was brought into sharp focus at last week's meeting of the Borough Zoning Board, when Nassau Savings & Loan Association requested permission to construct an office building at 19 Vandeventer Avenue.

Under the Borough's present zoning regulations, this would be a non-conforming use, since Vandeventer Avenue is in a residential zone. However, the proposed Master Plan, now under consideration by the Borough Planning Board, suggests that Vandeventer Avenue become part of the central business zone.

Nassau Savings & Loan's request thus became the basis for a tense two-and-a-half hour hearing, centered around the character of the Zoning Board's responsibilities. Should it honor the Master Plan provisions into consideration when making present decisions, or should it abide strictly by current zoning?

The case for the Master Plan was pleaded by Gordon D. Griffin, attorney representing Nassau Savings & Loan, with the opposite view argued by Seymour Montgomery, attorney representing Mr. and Mrs. Leonard LaPlaca of 28 Vandeventer Avenue, who opposed the proposed office building. Following the public hearing and a closed executive session, Frank W. Hubby, 3rd, Zoning Board chairman, announced that the board wanted more time to consider the problem and would not give its decision until the next meeting, scheduled for May 25.

Master Plan Cited. In summing up his case, Mr. Griffin said that the Zoning Board would show foresight in granting Nassau Savings & Loan's request, because the central business district needs to be expanded. He then cited the general development plan of the Master Plan, which suggests that the business district be enlarged to cover the entire area between Nassau and Wiggins and between Bank and Moore Streets.

The fact that the Master Plan makes this suggestion, Mr. Griffin said, is an indication that something must be done about the needs of the business district. "In order to assure the economic survival of Princeton," the building proposed by Nassau Savings & Loan, he added, would fit into the residential area during the transitional period and would help in setting the trend for future business construction.

Arguing against this reasoning, Mr. Montgomery said that it was "not up to the Zoning Board to amend the zoning ordinance or to attempt to do so by granting a variance." Regardless of any deficiencies in the present zoning, he stated, the function of the Zoning Board is "to administer the present zoning law."

"Mr. Griffin has been very persuasive in asking this board to perform the function of the mayor and council," Mr. Montgomery said, adding that "we don't even know whether the Master Plan will be adopted."

Option Until October. Nassau Savings & Loan has a contract with H. G. Houghton, owner of the 19 Vandeventer Avenue site, to purchase the property at a cost of $25,500, providing a zoning variance is granted. If the variance is not granted by October, 1961, the contract will become void.

Walter B. Foster, Jr., secretary of Nassau Savings & Loan, appeared before the Borough Planning Board at its April 4 meeting to explain the situation and to ask if the Master Plan were likely to be adopted by October. Martin Beech, Planning Board chairman, replied that the date for adoption of the new plan was uncertain, and Nassau Savings then decided to wait for a zoning variance.

In the interim, representatives of Nassau Savings circulated a petition approving the proposed new building among owners of property within 250 feet. A total of 17 out of 35 property owners in the residential zone signed the petition.

Those appearing in opposition to the plans, in addition to Mr. and Mrs. LaPlaca, included Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Perrine, 22 Vandeventer; Mrs. C. S. Sincichaus, 30 Vandeventer; and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brook, 31 Vandeventer. A letter of opposition was also received from Miss Lillian T. Reardon, 39 Vandeventer.

Colonial Design Planned. The building which Nassau Savings & Loan proposed to construct would be a two-story structure of Colonial design. The association would occupy the first floor and there would be office space on the second floor. Expected to cost about $25,000, the building would be 45 wide along Vandeventer, 25 feet high, and 60 feet deep.

The building would be located near Vandeventer Avenue, with a large parking lot in the rear, accessible from Park Place. A drive-in banking window, located on the side away from Park Place, would be reached by going through the parking lot and out past the building to Vandeventer Avenue.

The resolution was presented as a part of a report by the Presbytery's Christian Education Committee, which is headed by the CONFIRMATION TIME: The Sacrament of Confirmation was administered in April to 212 children and adults at St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church. The Most Reverend James J. Hogan, J.C.D., Auxiliary Bishop of Trenton, administered the Sacrament. Here, in formal procession, are the Bishops, flanked by Father Joseph S. Keenan of St. Ann's, Trenton, and Father Joseph R. Brzowski of Our Lady of Peace, Ford. Also in the group are Fathers William H. Murray, Robert H. Murray and Edward C. Henry, all of Princeton; Father Thomas Donnelly, St. Anthony's, Hightstown; Father Francis McCue, Our Lady of Victory, Sayreville, formerly of St. Paul's, and Father John R. MacDonald, St. Catherine's, Spring Lake. (Paul Roberts Photo)

Rev. David H. McAlpin, Jr., of Witherspoon Presbyterian Church and the Rev. Robert Good of Dutch Neck Presbyterian Church.

The resolution asserted that such public aid to parochial schools would force citizens to organizations to which they cannot commit themselves. In adopting the resolution, the Presbytery reaffirmed the stand previously taken by the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. The Rev. David L. Crawford, secretary of Princeton Theological Seminary, served as moderator of the Presbytery meeting.
